CINCINNATI'S MAD WEEK.

Never since Colonel Cincinnati got a telephone message to shake his plot and accept the position of Mayor of Porkopolis, has the Plaster Paris of America, alias the Queen City of the West, been so agitated. All the week the town has been mad over his Hibernian Highness William Angus Drogo Montague Macchetter (limited). His graceless arrived by fast freight in his father-in-law's private car, on Saturday, December 8, A. D., 1900, at 10:13 p. m., Standard Oil time.

Every disengaged man, woman, child and dog in Greater Cincinnati was at his station to meet the youth who had succeeded in capturing the hand, heart and pocketbook of the daughter of a railroad magnate whose money is only waiting a box of social matches to start a British house.

The Duke stepped on the platform first, leaving Mr. Zimmerman behind to tip the porter. Mr. Manchester was accompanied by two Christian-End av-or-visaged bull pups, a leather hat box, a package of cigarettes and the Duchess.

He was arrayed in a Zimmerman check suit, silk hat, pointed tan shoes, an eyeglass and an exceedingly becoming blood-pudding tie.

The regularity with which he has partaken of his meals has done away with the exhausted appearance he displayed on landing in New York. He looks much better.

As the party approached their carriage Major Fleischmann stepped forward and read the Declaration of Independence in Dutch. The Duke replied in pure Irish, which tickled the members of the Duckworth Club to death. He excused his personal appearance on the ground that he had forgotten to see his tailor before leaving England. It had always been his ambition to get into Cincinnati society, he said. There was nothing like it in England. He could thank God for that, he declared.

The Friendly Sons of St. Patrick then sang "God Save the Queen," and the Duke and Duchess were driven to Mount Auburn in a pouring rain.

Since the late lamented Lord Vine-treet has been brilliantly illuminated to save the expense of removing the lights, but the Duke thought all this had been done in his honor and bowed his thanks to the Saturday evening aboppers.

No one except Cincinnati newspaper reporters was admitted to the residence, which accounts for nothing being known about his Grace's movements until the following day. Sunday morning got light about 7:30, but the Duke slept soundly until 9:30. When he got roughly sleeping he woke up. The newspapers got out a special announcing this circumstance.

Another edition was published at 9:45 to record the fact that the secretary had come into the basement to feed the bull.

At 10:30 the entire family went to church to listen to a blood-curdling sermon on "The Life and Adventures of the Prodigal Son."

After the recessional a reception was held on the church steps, and soon afterward the bride and groom automobiled through Rat Row, Eden Park, Vine street and Clifton.

In the afternoon Mr. Manchester attended a sacred matinee at an over-the-Rhine theatre to witness a performance by Belle Billings' bloated British blonde. During the second act his Grace went behind the scenes to congratulate Miss Billings on her histrionic performance, expressing the hope that she might not catch cold on account of her drapery.

After the show a drive was taken to Clifton in cab No. 8 Cincinnati Transfer Company, and visits were paid to several of our most prominent families. Precisely at 9:30 o'clock the guest of the day washed his hands, dried them on a towel, brushed his hair, holding the brush firmly in his right hand (not the left, as stated by an evening paper) and went into the dining-room to partake of a home dinner consisting of five native products, viz.: Larded pig's feet, pork chops, breakfast bacon, boys' head cheese, Bologna, pretzels and beer.

Toward a midnight he had a sinking spell and was carried to bed. After several physicians had exerted themselves in his behalf he died at 1 p. m. of some Wiener-wurst. The lights were all out and the reporters slumbered serenely on the porch until daybreak.

Manchester is not a bad fellow by any means. Like all Englishmen who come to America, he has yet to become civilized. He is very proud of the fact that the Duchess told Lavinia Hart that she would have married him had he been plain John Smith.

The Duke's arrival has upset Cincinnati. Even a hired girl won't look at a man unless he has a title of some sort or other. The K. P.'s are calling themselves "Sir," and the Elks have called a meeting to give each member an aristocratic title. If Eugene Zimmerman doesn't go crazy it will be because he has become reconciled to his fate. Fifteen hundred dollar dogs, $1,400 automobiles, a $3,000 set of gold harness would worry any man in Porkopolis. [New York World.]

A NEW COIN—A new coin, 3-cent piece, has been authorized by act of Congress to take the place of the old coin, which was so much like a dime that its coinage was stopped. The 3-cent piece is ordered to be made of nickel, the size of the old bronze cent, only thicker. Its diameter is to be a whole one-fourth of an inch in diameter. This will make the coin easily distinguishable by sight or touch.

To accommodate those who are partial to the use of atomizers in applying liquids into the nasal passages for catarrhal troubles, the proprietors prepare Cream Palm in liquid form, which will be known as Ely's Liquid Cream Palm. Price, including the spraying tube, is 75 cents. Dispensed by mail. The liquid form embodies the medicinal properties of the solid preparation. Cream Palm is quickly absorbed by the mucous membrane and does not dry up the secretions, but changes them to a natural and healthy character. Ely Brother, 56 Warren street, New York.

Now is the time when cold and lung trouble prove especially fatal. The only remedy that produces immediate results is One Minute Cough Cure. It is very pleasant to take and can be relied upon to quickly cure colds, colds and all lung diseases. It will prevent consumption.
